Osteopathic Digest (April 1953)
Philadelphia College of Osteopathy

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.pcom.edu/digest
Part of the Medical Education Commons, and the Osteopathic Medicine and Osteopathy Commons

Recommended Citation
http://digitalcommons.pcom.edu/digest/58

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@PCOM. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digest by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@PCOM. For more information, please contact library@pcom.edu.
Founders Day

The O. J. Snyder Memorial Medal

Dr. Pennock's Address

President Barth's Foreword

Report on the College

Staff to Foundation $26,000

Alumni Activities

APRIL, 1953
The Purpose of
The Philadelphia College
Of Osteopathy Is to establish, conduct and maintain a college and related schools, clinics, laboratories and hospitals which shall formulate and impart instruction and training in the art, science and practice of osteopathic medicine, includ­ing surgery, obstetrics and the healing art, in accordance with the osteopathic concept of etiology, diagnosis, prevention and treat­ment of disease.

Advancement or Retrenchment?

DR. DAVID E. RUID, KCOS '33,

General Chairman Osteopathic Progress Fund

As our pride in our osteopathic colleges as educational institutions blinded us to the fact that they are also business concerns with all the problems involved in a large business operation? There is reason to believe that it has. Very apparent to all of us are the larger student bodies and faculties, the larger and better equipped libraries and laboratories, and the new clinics and hospitals. Not so obvious are the annual operational deficits, the mortgages on physical plants and the important needs of the present and future which cannot be fulfilled out of present resources.

Like any business, the osteopathic colleges must operate on balanced budgets. Anything else is suicidal. However, operating expenses greatly exceed tuition and other institutional income and the colleges must rely on the annual giving of alumni and friends to make up the difference. If adequate financial help is not received, budgets must still be balanced and the only alternative is retrenchment.

Should retrenchment be necessary, where will it begin? Will it be in faculty reduction; in the elimination of courses from the curriculum; in the restriction of clinical training; in the elimination or reduction of research? Retrenchment would not be an easy process and whatever form it took, the result would be a loss of quality in the finished product—the osteopathic physician. Retrenchment implies the loss of hard-won professional recognitions, a general weakening of the entire program of organized osteopathy, and a positive threat to the present high standing of osteopathic medicine among the learned professions.

Fortunately, retrenchment is not an immediate danger but if deficits are not prevented during the current fiscal year it may well become a necessity during the succeeding year. Regular monthly contributions from an increasing number of osteopathic physicians plus increased help from osteopathic auxiliaries and the general public will eliminate the danger of retrenchment and permit the osteopathic colleges to continue to graduate osteopathic physicians of high caliber and maintain their current high standing in the academic world. The Osteopathic Progress Fund is the channel through which this can be done.
The O. J. Snyder Memorial Address
Founders Day, January 31, 1953

Dr. Barth, . . . distinguished guests, trustees, directors, members of our Faculty, members of our profession, undergraduates of our College who will soon achieve the degree of Doctor of Osteopathy, and friends of our institution who are here today in honor of our Founders. This is a very great honor which you have just bestowed on me.

I have attended our Founders Day ceremonies for many years. It is a great thing, here in the middle of winter, here in the middle of the twentieth century, for us to set aside one day, a holiday, a day of celebration, in memory of the men who brought the practice of osteopathy to Philadelphia.

That was way back in 1898—Dr. Pressley came here in 1898, Dr. Snyder in ’99. Founders Day is the day we stop short in our busy lives and stand still and take a long look back over more than half a century, way back to our beginning as a college and as a profession here in the East.

I'm glad and proud to get this first medal, this O. J. Snyder Memorial Medal, even though I myself was not one of the original founders of the College.

I knew O.J. very well. I worked with him for many years.

We had some arguments, some pretty hot arguments, too. Yes, we had them with him for many years.

But here's the thing about O.J. He would argue with you. He would fight with you. In a meeting sometimes the arguments got real hot. But I'll say this for O.J. After the meeting, no matter if he won the argument or if he lost it, he would NEVER say a word about it afterward. If the meeting went against him, and against his ideas, he would go right along as if it was for the progress of osteopathy.

He would never criticize. After the meeting. He never threatened to resign, or leave the college—"take a powder," I guess you call it today. O.J. never made any threat that he would take a powder. Of course, in those days, osteopaths in general were against taking any kind of medicine, powders, pills or even cough syrup!

Look Ahead!

On Founders Day we stand still and look back. And I can do that. I can look WAY back, probably further back into past history than any other man here. But I am not satisfied with just looking back. I think right at this time, here in Philadelphia, for us at the Philadelphia College, the right direction to look is out there AHEAD. Look FORWARD!

I think the future of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy right now is the brightest prospect that has ever opened up before our profession anywhere, brighter than any time in the past.

I first met Dr. O. J. Snyder in September of 1898 in Kirkville. I was there as a freshman when Dr. Snyder happened to stop off and visit the school while passing through. As I was the only student there from Philadelphia and as Dr. Snyder was contemplating going to Philadelphia to practice when he graduated from the Northern Institute of Osteopathy, located in St. Paul, Minnesota, we met and had quite a visit together. I might add that Dr. Snyder graduated in the Spring of 1899 and came immediately to Philadelphia.

He was preceded here by Dr. Mason W. Pressley, who graduated from the same school in 1898. They were to be partners in practice and Dr. Pressley was to obtain a charter for the founding of a college in Philadelphia. The cost of doing this was paid for entirely by Dr. O. J. Snyder.

A charter was accordingly obtained in the State of New Jersey and was legally filed in the Court of Chancery of that state on January 27, 1899. This charter was for a profit-bearing Corporation—to have two hundred shares of stock—par value $100. Dr. O. J. Snyder was the first President and Dr. Mason W. Pressley the Secretary-Treasurer.

The First Assembly

The first class of the Philadelphia College and Infirmary of Osteopathy was held in a two-roomed office in the Stephen Girard Building. As soon as the Witherpoon Building was completed, they moved the college to the offices of Dr. Pressley and Dr. Snyder, located on the 6th floor of said building. The offices were composed of two lecture rooms, two laboratories, five treating rooms, a reception room and the college office.

The first class was composed of two students, Gene Bouker and Dr. C. B. Keene, an M.D. The first faculty was composed of six men and one woman—three Osteopaths, three M.D.'s, and one chemist.

In 1902, the college was moved to a large house on the northeast corner of 33rd and Arch Streets. My first association with P.C.I.O. was in the spring of 1903. At that time Dr. Charles J. Muttart, who had graduated from Kirksville in 1902, and who was teaching Applied Anatomy, came down with typhoid fever, and Dr. O. J. urged me to lecture on this subject while Dr. Muttart was ill—so I completed the term's work in applied anatomy. At the completion of that term I was very strongly urged to continue teaching, but the year of 1903-04 was my senior year at Hahnemann, so I resumed teaching in the fall term of 1904.

At this time osteopathy had no legal or ethical standing in Pennsylvania. Dr. O. J. Snyder called a meeting—the first of its kind—on Friday, the 18th of November, 1904, to discuss the possibility of legal recognition and how to raise the educational standards of the profession to accomplish this. At that meeting he very strongly urged the necessity of raising the educational standard in our colleges to three years. I might say that at this time the standard course in all the Osteopathic Colleges was two years of ten months each. This proposed raising of the educational standard to three years of nine months each, as so strongly urged by Dr. Snyder, met with violent opposition by the group, especially those just graduated from Kirksville. As a result of this meeting, the Philadelphia College instituted an optional third year course, which I might add, nobody took advantage of—not a single student matriculated.

Faculty Goes on Strike

I wish now to relate an incident that happened during the summer of 1905 and which illustrated a very strong aspect of Dr. Snyder's character which I have previously stated. At this time the faculty of the college consisted of eight men, Drs. Pressley and Snyder, Dr. John Carter, and Dean C. W. McCurdy, graduates of the Philadelphia College, and four graduates of Kirksville, Dr. Charles Muttart, Dr. Robert Dunnington, Dr. J. Ivan Dufur and myself.

I might tell you about our salary. All the men but the two founders got paid $750.00 each with a par value of $100. We were paid at the rate of $3 per hour, so for 33 hours of instruction we would receive one share of stock. So at that time the annual financial cost of instruction in cash was nothing. It so happened that in the summer of 1905 the college had in the treasury about $3,000. The teachers felt that this money should be divided proportionately. Drs. Pressley and Snyder very violently opposed this. They said that they should be paid the whole amount.

They wanted to take it all. The debate became very violent and finally they produced a note which they had signed as President and Secretary whereby the money was to be turned over to them. Whereupon Drs. Muttart, Dufur, Dunnington, Carter, and myself wrote an ultimatum which we presented to Dr. Snyder shortly before college opened in the fall of 1905.

This note stated unless Drs. Pressley and Snyder resigned from their official positions, turned over all their stock to the corporation and entirely retired from the college in every way, we five men would retire from the institution, and that furthermore their resignation had to be hand in before college opened in September.

Several meetings were held and, after much violent debating and bitter feeling, they resigned in every way from the institution. Dr. Pressley retired and that was the end of him professionally in this state, but Dr. Snyder continued to work for the benefit of the college and the profession in this state and no one ever heard him say one word against either the college or the men who forced his resignation, there by showing the strength of character that very few of us possess.

So far as I know this is the first time in many years that this fact has been discussed and I bring it up here to show the strength of Dr. O.J.'s character and why his memory should be so highly regarded.

In the state legislature of 1905 an effort was made to legalize osteopathy but it was overwhelmingly defeated. Dr. Snyder worked valiantly.

County Society Starts

The first meeting of the Philadelphia County Osteopathic Society was held in 1903 in the office of Dr. J. Ivan Dufur, 15th and Walnut Streets, and thereafter meetings were held regularly. It was at these meetings that Dr. Snyder so forcefully urged the raising of the course to three years at the college. He contended that this was absolutely necessary if we were to succeed in the State Legislature.

Consequently, in the fall of 1906, largely through the insistence of Dr. Snyder, the course was raised to a compulsory three years of nine months. This action brought violent opposition from all the other osteopathic colleges. It was in the State legislature in 1907, under the able leadership of Dr. Snyder, we succeeded in passing a bill, only to have it vetoed by Governor Penny packer. Dr. Snyder contended that if we wished to pass a bill through the legislature and have it signed it was absolutely essential that we go on a four-year college course to be on equal basis with our medical brethren, and so powerfully did he preach this, that in 1909 a bill was passed through the state legislature and signed by Governor Stuart, legalizing osteopathy. This bill provided that from 1913 on, all applicants for state licensure would have to have graduated from a college providing a four-year course of nine months each.

First Four-Year College

So the Philadelphia College in the fall of 1909 went on a four-year course, and again there was violent opposition from all the other osteopathic colleges. For a number of years all osteopaths graduating from any other college who wished to practice in Pennsylvania or New York had to come to Philadelphia to complete a fourth year. One of these was Dr. Francis Smith, now Professor of Anesthesia at our institution. Again, I wish to state this was brought about largely through the unifying efforts of Dr. O. J. Snyder.

As time progressed, the college gradually grew and the feeling developed that we needed a hospital. In the first place, we needed a hospital so we could further improve the instruction to our students and to better acquaint them with the specialties necessary to the complete practice of the healing art. Secondly, without our own hospital, osteopathic patients needing surgery or any other special form of treatment had to be referred to medical... men, with the result that upon their recovery they were often advised to go to an M.D., and many of them did. So the college, on May 10, 1911, obtained a hospital charter in Pennsylvania, and kept it a secret for several years, until such time as we felt we could operate a hospital, even if just a small one.

In the meantime, under the leadership of Dr. O. J. Snyder, the subject was discussed in the Philadelphia County Society, until in a meeting, I think it was in 1913, Dr. O. J. Snyder made a motion that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter of obtaining such a charter.

Whereupon we of the college board got our heads together and decided that this would be the psychological time to announce that we had held such a charter for the past two years. Dr. Snyder was very indignant that we would go ahead and procure such a charter without consulting him in any way, and under the excitement of the moment he proposed that the profession throw our charter away and procure another one.

Later, after much discussion, he agreed that we go ahead with the charter which the college already had, and he helped develop the plan whereby the proposed hospital organization should buy in the outstanding shares of college stock, which was done, so that the hospital would own the college and thus bring both institutions under one control.

O.J.'s Loyalty Met Every Test

I mention this incident to again illustrate the strength and character of Dr. O. J. Snyder. He felt severely hurt that we should go ahead and procure a hospital charter without consulting him, but once it was done and he was satisfied that it was for the good of the profession, he worked wholeheartedly for the development of the hospital with never a word of criticism.

He worked first, last, and all the time for the development and progress of Osteopathy, and never carried a grudge if someone else's idea was the one accepted.

The question of as to whether the law of 1909 gave the osteopaths the legal right to perform and practice surgery was an open one. We said it did, and the medical brethren said not. Consequently an osteopath in the western portion of the state was arrested for practicing medicine without a license because he had performed an appendectomy and gave the after-treatment.

After a lengthy legal battle in which the case was carried to the superior court of the state, the ruling was that he had the legal surgical right to remove the appendix and suture the wound up, but that he did not have the legal right to give the patient a dose of morphine gr. ¼ to relieve the post-operative pain. The osteopath was accordingly fined for the illegal practice of medicine. Thus the court said the osteopath had the legal right to perform surgical operations but not to give the recognized standard post-operative treatment.

This brought Dr. Snyder out again in legislative battle to establish the proper surgical rights to the osteopathic profession. As a result, under his able leadership, the present Osteopathic Surgeons Bill was passed. To the passage of this bill great credit should go to the untiring work of Dr. O. J. Snyder.

And so, here today, when I accept this medal—it's a wonderful medal—it memorializes a wonderful man.

The best thing I can do in return, the best way I can repay you, Dr. Barth, and you, the trustees and directors, and you, my friends and associates on the faculty and staff for many years, and particularly you, the students, the osteopathic physicians of the future—the best thing I can GIVE you is this picture of O. J. Snyder...
Let's Examine Ourselves!

by Frederic H. Barth, D.Sc.

President, Board of Trustees
Philadelphia College of Osteopathy

The present issue of the Digest is being edited during the period in the school calendar reserved for winter term examinations.

It occurred to me that examination time for the students would be an excellent time also for the administration, the graduates, members of the profession in general, to examine themselves regarding their interest and their aspiration for our institution, to honestly search minds and hearts to ascertain if motives are sincere and without desire for personal gain, prestige or power, if all actions taken and words spoken are for the benefit of the College and the profession.

With this thought in mind I would like to present to our readers some matters which I feel will be of interest.

In other pages of this publication are found reports which give details regarding our present operation, details which do not need repetition. Suffice it for me to say that our institution, because of the support of the faculty, profession and trustees, is operating satisfactorily and efficiently.

I would like to reaffirm—

This is an Osteopathic College allied with an Osteopathic Hospital. We shall never forget our heritage nor permit our institutions to teach or practice the healing art disregarding the basic principles developed by the founders of the Osteopathic profession.

Our Program for the Future

We examine our curriculum regularly to keep abreast of modern education, aiming to strengthen our faculty whenever and wherever necessary in number of teachers and quality of instruction.

One main objective in curriculum examination is to see that osteopathic principles and techniques are used to the best advantage in all teaching departments, as well as in the hospitals and clinics.

We are increasing our clinical facilities to improve our service to the public and to give greater educational opportunity to our students.

It is our desire to promote osteopathic research on the lines of osteopathic professional development and modern science.

As the only Osteopathic College in the East it behooves us to expand our program of graduate osteopathic education to fulfill to the extent of our ability the needs of the profession in the field.

Listed are only some of the major portions of our current program. To realize our goal it is absolutely essential that we have more and greater facilities. We must start our building program soon in order to increase our space for classrooms, laboratories, and library.

We must prepare our institution to educate larger classes and to have better facilities to teach our students.

The program and the problems we face are not only those of the institution's governing bodies and administraation but also the interests of all members of the osteopathic profession.

The osteopathic profession has reached maturity. I would therefore admonish that criticism of the acts of any osteopathic organization or group be on a mature basis. Be sure that criticism is of a constructive nature and not destructive. Do not attempt to rationalize all criticism by calling it "constructive." Aid your organizations and institutions. Do nothing to discredit or injure your profession. Think carefully before speaking or acting.

We all believe that Osteopathy is the greatest and most modern development in the practice of the healing arts. Let us therefore close ranks, forget any personal differences, aid and assist your College in achieving the proposed program for the benefit of the public, the student body, the institution, and so help the profession as a whole.

The Spiritual Side

The February schedule of Assembly speakers brought to the PCO Auditorium representatives of the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Hebrew faiths, in that chronological order, on three successive Monday afternoons to address our student body on the religious attention to emergency cases, criticals, pre-operatives and patients in general.

February 9, it was the Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph C. Cox, Rector of St. Thomas More High School, February 16 the Reverend W. T. Vander, Pastor of Oak Lane Baptist Church, and February 23 Rabbi Theodore H. Gordon, Director of the Hillel Society, University of Pennsylvania.
Disabled Veterans Endorse D.O. Care

How the osteopathic profession rates with one important army of Americans was graphically demonstrated last summer on the floor of the national convention of the Disabled American Veterans.

Louis F. Amalfitano, of Wilmington, Del., drafted a Resolution which the Philadelphia Chapter submitted to the Rehabilitation Committee. It was then approved by the Convention August 14 and passed to the National Director of Claims for action with the Veterans Administration.

In the convention it was “Comrade” Amalfitano. Next June in Irving Auditorium, 34th and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia, it will be DOCTOR Amalfitano, since Comrade Lou is the alphabetical No. 1 of our present Junior class.

Here’s the text of the Resolution as drafted by Amalfitano, ’54, and passed:

WHEREAS: Veterans Hospitals are inadequately staffed due to an acute Shortage of Doctors, and

WHEREAS, Many Disabled Veterans are not receiving the proper treatment due to such shortage of doctors; and

WHEREAS, The Osteopathic Profession has in many cases been of great help to Disabled Veterans by their method of treatments that in more ways have been able to put many a Disabled Veteran back on his feet so that he can earn a livelihood for his family;

THerefore be it Resolved, That the Disabled American Veterans here assembled at the 31st Annual Convention held at Boston, Mass., do hereby take such action as is necessary to seek such legislation or make such recommendations to the Veterans Administration to recognize the Osteopathic Physician and to permit Disabled Veterans to seek treatments from such Osteopathic Physician that may be necessary, and be it further

Resolved, That the Veterans Administration be asked to fill vacancies in their VA Hospitals and Clinics with Osteopathic Doctors on the same and equal competitive spirit for similar appointments, so that our many Disabled Veterans may receive the proper service for his service incurred Disabilities.

’52—Dr. Lloyd E. Eslinger, Dr. Paul R. Galutia, Dr. William J. Lloyd and Dr. William H. Pood moved in as interns at Allentown Osteopathic Hospital. Dr. Eslinger is a Muhlenberg product, Dr. Galutia prepared at Cornell, Hobart and Alfred, Dr. Lloyd was graduated from Lebanon Valley, and Dr. Pood studied at Penn State and Temple.

ACOP Strong in PCO’s

Several PCO alumni were elected to office when Region I. American College of Osteopathic Pediatricians, held its meeting in Philadelphia.

Dr. George Stineman, ’32, Harrisburg, was chosen President; Dr. Otto M. Kurschner, ’45, Philadelphia, became first Vice-President; and Dr. Nelson D. King, ’35, Boston, second Vice-President. For the third consecutive time, Dr. Thomas F. Santucci, ’37, Philadelphia, was elected Secretary-Treasurer.

The academic program of the fall meeting also featured alumni and faculty. Heard on the program of blood diseases in the newborn and child were Dr. Lester Eisenberg, ’38, PCO Assistant Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, on “Prenatal Therapies of Rh Problems”; Dr. Bernard Witlin, PCO Assistant Professor of Bacteriology and Public Health, on “Serologic Aspects of Rh Problems”; Dr. O. Edwin Owen, DMS ’37, PCO Professor of Pathology, on “Laboratory Data”; Dr. Clarence E. Baldwin, ’34, Associate Professor of Hematology, on “Leukemia of Infancy and Childhood”; and Dr. M. M. Belkoff, ’48, Clinical Assistant in Pediatrics, on “Acute Myelogenous Leukemia (Intra-uterine)—Case Report.”

Dr. Owen at Akron

Dr. O. Edwin Owen, P.C.O. Professor of Pathology, addressed the Akron and Canton Osteopathic Academies on the subject of “Osteopathy Today,” at the University Club in Akron, O., December 29, the annual dinner given to prospective students, students enrolled in osteopathic colleges, and interns of osteopathic hospitals.

AT CHARITY BALL

New officers of the American College of Osteopathic Pediatricians line up after taking office. They are, left to right, Dr. Otto M. Kurschner, ’45, secretary-treasurer; Dr. E. Jane Cunningham, KCOS ’31, vice-president; Dr. Arnold Melnick, ’45, president; and Dr. Patrick D. Philben, KCOS ’39, president-elect.

Dr. James M. Eaton, ’28, OHP Chief-of-Staff, and Dr. John E. Devine, ’28, President-Elect of Alumni Association.
Light Fantastic for OHP
The Charity Ball, with Tommy Tucker’s Orchestra imported from New York and the largest attendance of students in the history of the Osteopathic Hospital’s annual social climax, made a memorable finale to a Founders Day celebration which will go down in history.

Graduate seminars in the afternoon at the College provided a profitable interlude for such visiting alumni as were not in attendance at the open meeting of the Alumni Association Board of Directors. The Board of Trustees of the College held the regular Founders Day meeting at the same time.

Harold Salkind, Esq., General Chairman, was the one man most to be credited with the outstanding success of the Ball. It was held in the Grand Ballroom of the Broadwood Hotel, with dinner at 7 and dancing from 9. The platform oratory was limited to a few important announcements, such as an individual contribution of $5,000 by an anonymous benefactor of the institution.

Harry S. Sylk was Associate Chairman with Mr. Salkind. George Gordon Meade served as Chairman of Sponsors and the Hon. Francis J. Myers shared Honorary Chairmanship with Dr. Frederic H. Barth.

Dr. H. Walter Evans, ’17, Secretary, and Dr. James M. Eaton, ’28, Treasurer, worked with Assistant Committee Chairman Dr. Harry E. Binder, ’36, Dr. William E. Brandt, ’21, Dr. William F. Daber, ’28, Dr. Arnold Gerber, ’40, Dr. Saul Kanoff, ’47, Dr. Arnold Melnick, ’45, David Melnick, Mrs. Herman Poppe, Dr. Alan Salkind, ’47, Dr. Leopold Salkind, ’44, Dr. Morris Salkind, ’47, and Dr. Carlton Street, ’24.

Approval and Triple Kidney
Riverview Hospital, Norristown, Pa., has received notice of approval for intern training and for one resident in diagnostic X-ray from the AOA Bureau of Hospitals.

To make the headline higher, in the same press release Riverview announces the identification of a double right kidney, each unit complete with tube, in a patient hospitalized for other than renal symptoms. Her three kidneys have been functioning smoothly.

Junior Aid Fashion Show
O.H.P. Junior Aid held a luncheon and fashion show—their third annual—at Drexelbrook Inn February 17, entitled “Prelude to Spring.” The Children’s Ward was the beneficiary. Chairman Mrs. Walter K. Sherwin had as helpers Mrs. H. Willard Sterrett, Mrs. Charles A. Hemmer and Mrs. George H. Court.

PCO Men Help Church Clinic
A group of PCO alumni has been responsible for the success of an unusual pediatric clinic in Philadelphia, the Children’s Free Clinic of the Bethel Lutheran Church, which has handled over five thousand patient visits in its five years of existence. More than 1100 new patients have registered since it started in June, 1947.

The Clinic collects no fees, no charges for any patient, yet is completely self-supporting. Conceived by Dr. Arthur Snyder, ’44, and Dr. Ivan H. Hagedorn, pastor of the church, it has outgrown its original quarters in the pastor’s study and expanded into the church building with much added equipment.

To carry the work load involved, several staff members have been subsequently added. Dr. Herman F. Cohen, ’45, assistant director of the clinic, and Dr. Alfred I. Green, ’50, are on the staff. Dr. Snyder is the director and Dr. Arnold Melnick, ’45, is consultant in Pediatrics, with valuable assistance and advice from Dr. William S. Spaeuth, ’23, PCO Professor of Pediatrics and Department Chairman.

Valuable assistance is being rendered to the Clinic also by Dr. Cecil Harris, ’43, Dr. Arnold Gerber, ’40, Dr. Alexander Price, ’41, and Dr. Herbert Flet­ man, ’44, in various specialties.

Although no charges are made and no funds solicited, many patients have from time to time given small gratuities as an expression of appreciation, and members and friends of the church offer voluntary contributions. Through this, and the cooperation of pharmaceutical houses, the Clinic has been able to achieve a self-supporting status.

Besides offering ordinary care in the Clinic, these alumni offer free immunizations.
PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHY CONDENSED FUNDED BALANCE SHEET, AUGUST 31, 1952

Assets

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>General Fund</th>
<th>Liabilities and Funds</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cash in banks and in office:</td>
<td>General Fund surplus:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unappropriated</td>
<td>$55,005.55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accounts receivable—student fees</td>
<td>General fund surplus:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>and miscellaneous—net</td>
<td>$5,474.35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inventory—clinical pharmacy</td>
<td>Payroll taxes and other liabilities:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>$1,947.19</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| Advance to Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia—North Center Unit | Special funds:
| | United States Government Cancer Detection Training grant: $11,357.78 |
| Supplies and equipment purchases applicable to 1952-1953 school year | Other special designated funds: $660.62 |
| | Total special funds: $11,918.40 |
| | Total general fund liabilities and surplus: $89,987.93 |
| Total general fund assets | Appropriated Fund |
| | Equipment Fund |
| | Cash: |
| | 36,179.00 |
| | Total equipment fund assets: $89,867.10 |
| Total general fund assets | Total equipment fund |
| | $216,034.03 |
| Appropriated Fund | Total liabilities and funds |
| Cash in bank | $216,034.03 |
| Equipment Fund | |
| General equipment | $80,299.38 |
| Isotope laboratory equipment | $4,068.57 |
| Library books | $5,499.15 |
| Total equipment fund assets | $89,867.10 |
| Total assets | |
| | $216,034.03 |

AUDITORS REPORTS

We have examined the condensed funded balance sheet of PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHY as of August 31, 1952. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and included all procedures we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying condensed funded balance sheet as of August 31, 1952, presents fairly the financial position of PHILADELPHIA COLLEGE OF OSTEOPATHY at that date in conformity with principles applicable to institutional accounting on a funded basis.

TAY, WELLS & BAKER, Certified Public Accountants

OSTEOPATHIC HOSPITAL OF PHILADELPHIA CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FUNDED BALANCE SHEET, MAY 31, 1952, 48TH STREET UNIT AND NORTH PHILADELPHIA CENTER UNIT

Assets

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>General Fund</th>
<th>Liabilities and Funds</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cash in bank and in office</td>
<td>General Fund surplus:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>$5,785.24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accounts receivable:</td>
<td>General fund surplus:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patients—net</td>
<td>$128,816.37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pennsylvania</td>
<td>$10,884.71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Philadelphia College of Osteopathy</td>
<td>$26,573.58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Suspension accounts</td>
<td>$198.32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total accounts receivable</td>
<td>$166,472.98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inventories</td>
<td>$76,823.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Investments:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Capital stock—Philadelphia College of Osteopathy</td>
<td>$8,500.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other investments</td>
<td>$68,606.15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total investments</td>
<td>$77,106.15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prepaid insurance</td>
<td>$8,165.08</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total general fund assets</td>
<td>$334,353.20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plant and Equipment Fund</td>
<td>Plant and Equipment Fund</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total general fund assets</td>
<td>Mortgage indebtedness:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>$267,188.06</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Plant and equipment fund surplus</td>
<td>$1,301,913.69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total plant and equipment fund</td>
<td>$1,569,101.75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total assets</td>
<td>Total liabilities and funds</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>$1,903,454.93</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

AUDITORS REPORTS

We have examined the condensed consolidated funded balance sheet of OSTEOPATHIC HOSPITAL OF PHILADELPHIA as of May 31, 1952. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and included all procedures we considered necessary in the circumstances excepting verification of accounts receivable and inventories which was performed as at a subsequent date.

In our opinion, the accompanying condensed consolidated funded balance sheet as of May 31, 1952, presents fairly the combined financial position of OSTEOPATHIC HOSPITAL OF PHILADELPHIA, 48TH STREET and NORTH PHILADELPHIA CENTER UNITS at that date in conformity with principles applicable to institutional accounting on a funded basis.

TAY, WELLS & BAKER, Certified Public Accountants
OSTEOPATHIC FOUNDATION OF PHILADELPHIA CONDENSED FUNDED BALANCE SHEET
AUGUST 31, 1952

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Trust Funds</th>
<th>ASSETS</th>
<th>Trust Funds</th>
<th>LIABILITIES AND FUNDS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Investments</td>
<td>$255,360.96</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cash in bank</td>
<td>$22,250.96</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total trust fund assets</td>
<td>$277,611.92</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Distribution Fund</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cash in bank</td>
<td>6,853.58</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Staff Doctors Dues Fund</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cash in bank</td>
<td>11,468.39</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total assets</td>
<td>$295,933.89</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| OSTEOPATHIC FOUNDATION OF PHILADELPHIA CONDENSED SUMMARY OF CASH RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS, SEPTEMBER 1, 1951 TO AUGUST 31, 1952 |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Total</th>
<th>Trust Funds</th>
<th>Distribution Fund</th>
<th>Staff Doctors Dues Fund</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Receipts</td>
<td>$35,849.84</td>
<td>$12,005.88</td>
<td>$16,006.07</td>
<td>$7,837.89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Interest and dividends</td>
<td>$6,390.99</td>
<td>$8,390.99</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Distribution account</td>
<td>867.63</td>
<td>867.63</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loan—Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia—48th Street Unit</td>
<td>52,757.06</td>
<td>52,757.06</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Proceeds from sale securities</td>
<td>31,787.40</td>
<td>31,787.40</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contributions</td>
<td>49,331.16</td>
<td>66.00</td>
<td></td>
<td>$49,255.16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Staff doctors dues</td>
<td>11,580.00</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total receipts</td>
<td>$155,304.24</td>
<td>$94,469.08</td>
<td></td>
<td>$49,255.16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>$191,154.08</td>
<td>$106,474.96</td>
<td>$65,261.23</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

| Disbursements | | | | |
|----|----|----|----|
| Securities purchased | $79,224.00 | $79,224.00 | | | |
| Loan—Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia—48th Street Unit | 5,000.00 | 5,000.00 | | | |
| Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia | 10,399.76 | | | $2,725.85 | $7,673.91 |
| Philadelphia College of Osteopathy | 2,924.74 | | | | |
| To trust funds for investments | 52,757.06 | | | | |
| Staff meeting expenses | 275.59 | | | | |
| Total disbursements | $130,581.15 | | $84,224.00 | $58,940.76 | $7,949.50 |
| Balance—August 31, 1952 | $40,472.93 | $22,250.96 | | $6,853.58 | $11,468.39 |

ACCOUNTANT’S CERTIFICATE

We have examined the condensed funded balance sheet of OSTEOPATHIC FOUNDATION OF PHILADELPHIA as of August 31, 1952 and the related condensed summary of cash receipts and disbursements for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and included such tests of the records and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying condensed funded balance sheet and condensed summary of cash receipts and disbursements present fairly the financial position of OSTEOPATHIC FOUNDATION OF PHILADELPHIA at August 31, 1952 and income for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

October 24, 1952

Tait, Wellers & Baker, Certified Public Accountants

---

The best-attended Christmas party in PCO history marked the high point in the winter social season in PCO Auditorium. Children of Faculty members, student body and friends gathered around the tall fanned tree and listened to stories by Mrs. Ted Eberle, then Santy (Richard Chambers, Jr., '54) passed around the presents. When the kiddies went home, the grown-ups danced around the tree till midnight.
Public Relations—and the Family

When Osteopathy was young, the girls and boys marched forward, shoulder to shoulder, a united front facing the world ahead and around and outside. As long as the profession keeps in that order of march, there's no limit to the forward and upward course.

PCO had two original Founders. As Dr. Pennock related it in his Founders Day address, printed herein, there was a family difference of opinion when the institution was still in its early childhood. Both Founders resigned. One thereafter took no part in the College affairs. We never hear his name. He's forgotten—by this generation, at least.

The other Founder—Dr. O. J. Snyder—even after severing connection with the College administration and teaching, became the Number One individual worker in the interests of osteopathic education in the East, the pioneer of first the 3-year college course, then the 4-year course, a fighter in Legislatures for recognition and rights for graduates of osteopathic colleges.

So each year, when PCO celebrates Founders Day, it's "The O. J. Snyder Memorial Address."

* * *

This periodic magazine is our main College public relations communication to our alumni and the whole osteopathic population of the East. We have other public relations communication avenues, our men going out to conventions and district meetings, our students in their home areas, what people say about us in general, people inside our family and outside, friends and sometimes not too friendly.

But mostly friends. Now and then something unfriendly gets talked around and expanded and sometimes twisted. Only very rarely is the twist serious enough to need official straightening out. In the interests of "un-twisting" we are at this time printing the following two letters:

November 11, 1952

Board of Trustees, Philadelphia College of Osteopathy
Board of Directors, Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia
Board of Managers, Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia

Gentlemen:

I wish to apologize for having secured correspondence from the former Comptroller of the institutions, without proper authorization, and having it disseminated, thereby causing unnecessary and unwarranted criticism of the Administrations of the Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia, the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, and the Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia.

I have since determined that the action taken by Dr. Frederic H. Barth was at the direction of the Board of Managers of the Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia, upon the advice of counsel and in accordance with the regulations, rules and by-laws regarding the investment of funds of the Foundation.

For these reasons the Board of Directors, feeling that my conduct was detrimental to the best interests of the institution, suspended me from the Staff of the Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia.

I now realize that I should have discussed this matter with officers of the Administration, and you may be assured that such an incident will not recur.

I wish to pledge my future continued support and assistance to the Administration of the institutions.

I authorize you to publicize this letter in any manner desired.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) GALEN S. YOUNG, D.O.

February 24, 1953

Board of Trustees, Philadelphia College of Osteopathy
Board of Directors, Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia
Board of Managers, Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia

Gentlemen:

I wish to extend this apology to the administrative officers of the above-mentioned boards for having secured correspondence from the former Comptroller of the institutions, without proper authorization and for having submitted the same to the Alumni Board of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. The result of the above action caused unwarranted and unnecessary criticism of the administrative officers of the Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia, the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, and the Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia.

I had previous knowledge that the action taken by Dr. Frederic H. Barth was at the direction of the Board of Managers of the Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia in accordance with the rules, regulations and by-laws pertaining to the investment of Foundation funds and was on the advice of counsel. My action regarding the above matter was ill-considered and hasty.

You have my complete assurance that there will be no recurrence of such an incident and I hereby pledge my future continued support and assistance to the administrative officers of the above mentioned Boards.

You may publicize this letter in any way you see fit.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) CLYDE S. SAYLOR, D.O.
Plane-Spotting Eclampsia

Turning engines of war to saving of life is about as high as science can go and our Dr. Lester Eisenberg, '38, PCO Assistant Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology, gave that thrill to the annual convention of the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists at Dallas, Texas, last month.

He detailed to the meeting how the same type of flicker photometer used in training soldiers in airplane identification is now adapted to the checking of expectant mothers for symptoms of hypertension.

The pregnant woman's reactions to the flickering light tests of the adapted plane-spotting mechanism can spot signs of increasing toxemia, so that intensified therapy can forestall the development of convulsive states which could be often fatal to mother or fetus or both.

That's one war-machine turned straight. Dr. Eisenberg has another one coming, a (hold on to your seats) Pneumotokodynanometer, a machine for distinguishing between false and true labor.

Faldon Doubles Seals Sales

Sale of Christmas Seals for Osteopathic Education and Research more than doubled in the PCO student body under the able chairmanship of Karl Faldon, '54, Gloucester City, N. J., President of the PCO Junior Class. The total of $166.75 looks very good compared to the $76.00 figure for the previous year.

New Clinic Teachers

Dr. J. B. Culbert, '30, New York, N. Y., and Dr. Sidney M. Weiss, '39, Collingswood, N. J., were approved at the Board of Trustees' Founders Day meeting as Teaching Supervisors in the Department of Clinics.

It is a provision of Faculty appointment at PCO that, except in special cases, a physician must teach in the General Clinic for one year in the osteopathic management of cases before assignment to any other department.

Foundation Elections

Election of officers for the Osteopathic Foundation of Philadelphia for the year are as follows: President, Dr. Frederic H. Barth; Vice-President, Hon. Frederic D. Garman; Treasurer, Dr. James M. Eaton, 28; Secretary, Dr. Leo C. Wagner, '26; Assistant Secretary, Anne Boggs.

Dr. Stanley Dorman, '42, has been appointed Clinical Assistant in the Department of Osteopathic Principles and Techniques.

Visual Education

Following the Founders Day meeting of the Board, both hospital units are now equipped with new motion-picture projectors—16 mm. with sound—for the Visual Education program.

Under the direction of Dr. Barbara Redding, '32, Supervisor of Extern Training, a picture has been made in our hospital for the guidance of each new platoon of senior students moving in for extern assignment. The film illustrates the details of the extern duties in every particular and is a distinct advantage in this phase of teaching.

Women's Auxiliary Bazaar

The annual card party and bazaar of the OHP Women's Auxiliary was held in the Wanamaker Auditorium January 22. Mrs. Carl Fischer was program chairman. The program featured the award of a mink coat to the winner of the drawing contest, in addition to the usual door prizes and sale of "Mystery Packages."
There was a gay time in the Olde Towne when the OHP Junior Aid held court at Philly's Adelphi with a Mardi Gras Bal Masque.

We caught glimpses of absent-minded professors, savages, Buster Brown, the Gay Nineties and costumes of all nations. Hats off to the Masquers and their thinking originality of costumery.

Some were more original than they thought, for instance, Dr. Pennock up there with the stove-pipe chapeau just to the right of the middle of the page. He paid the man ten bucks for a costume named "Southern Gentleman," and they gave him a prize as "John Bull"(!)
King and Queen Rex were Harold Quarles, Royal Oak, Mich., PCO Senior Class President, and his lady, Miss Patricia Hunt. "Miss Philadelphia 1952." That's Oscar Neufeld to the left of Miss Philadelphia. The Court Ladies, left to right, are the Misses Elizabeth Riceman, Betty Moore, Joan Hessdorfer, Jane Tilghman, Patricia Daiber, and Patricia Stewart. Here and there around the page, if you're smart, you can pick out Claire Sterrett, Dr. Carl Fischer, '25, Dr. Galen S. Young, '35, Dr. William Baldwin, Jr., '40, Dr. Harry Hessdorfer, '28, Dr. Wm. F. Dalber, '28, and Dr. Spencer G. Bradford, '42, but there's two who are really "masqued"!
REPORT TO THE ALUMNI

By W. E. Brandt, D.O.

Acting President and Acting Dean

This year one student (Freshman) has been lost to the armed forces. Enrollment now stands at 364: 86 Seniors, 92 Juniors, 89 Sophomores and 96 Freshmen, with one special student repeating prescribed courses to qualify for full standing in the Junior class.

The student body has expressed appreciation of the installation of new water-cookers on three floors of the College building and the purchase of new clothes-racks for the classrooms.

The weekly Assemblies have been addressed by Dr. Robert B. Anderson, '30, President-elect, of the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association, Dr. John E. Devine, '28, President of the New Jersey Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Dr. David J. Bachrach, '27, President of the New York State Osteopathic Society, Dr. Theodore L. Sharpe, KCOS '36, Martinsburg, W. Va., President of the West Virginia State Board Examiners and President-elect of the West Virginia Osteopathic Society, Dr. Ira W. Drew, '11, Dr. Alice Chase, '30, Namuet, N.Y., Dr. Ernest A. Johnson, '25, of Philadelphia, former Alumni Association President, Harold Salkind, Chairman of the Charity Ball Committee, and Dr. John McA. Ulrich, '27, Harrisburg, President of the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association.

During February, we had representatives of the Roman Catholic Church, the Hebrew faith and the Protestant denominations on three successive Mondays to discuss before the students the religious procedures to be taken into account in cases of urgency and emergency.

The work of the Dean's office continues to be handled with intelligence, expedition and a firm spirit of progressive organizational cooperation through the combined efforts of Assistant Dean, Senior, Director of Admissions and Registrar Rowland, the Assistant Registrar, Mrs. Marguerite Archer, and the College staff, Miss Venitti, Mrs. Winfeld and Mrs. Rosenberg. Mrs. Archer assumed her position in November following the resignation of Miss Eliot Jeffords, who married and moved to Illinois.

OPF Office at North

February 1, we set up in the Alumni office at North Center, under the supervision of Mrs. Mallams, a file for the Osteopathic Progress Fund which will be organized from the start of our records in 1946 to the present day and will be maintained current.

In December we mailed 789 holiday greeting cards expressing appreciation of support, to every person on our list of OPF contributors for the past seven years whose addresses are known. During 1952, we wrote 210 personal letters in acknowledgment of contributions, most of them through OPF.

On January 13th, I received from Dr. James O. Watson, Secretary, Committee on Osteopathic Education, State Medical Board of the State of Ohio, a communication stating that on January 9th the State Committee on Osteopathic Education had approved our College for the year 1953.

The Faculty Committee on Undergraduate Curriculum has met on almost every Friday afternoon since College opened in September. The Committee has spent most of its time in discussing ways to strengthen the present curriculum, placing special emphasis on the Senior year. In order to properly evaluate our educational program, Mr. Rowland has organized a Patient Advisory Committee in each class to offer constructive criticism regarding our present program.

The Visiting Lecturer Program as set up by Dr. Helig in his Department has been reviewed and strengthened with an "eye" to certain topics suggested by the students. The Committee is presently drawing up the content for a course in Dietetics and will presently submit a complete syllabus.

Extra-Curricular

A College Party welcoming the Freshman Class was held in October and a Christmas Party for the P.C.O. Family was held December 19, both in the College Auditorium. The success of these affairs warrants their continuance as annual events.

Mr. Rowland has obtained gymnasium privileges at the Dobbins Vocational School and is conducting intramural basketball games every Thursday night.

The College Glee Club and the student newspaper, The Axone, are in full operation. The Axone has been circulated to our alumni and to the general profession in our area.

Arrangements are being made to show educational films to the clubs, classes, and fraternities of the College, as well as to various groups in the Hospital. The scheduling will be handled by one person, making for a smoothly-working program.

The following changes have been made in our admission requirements which should increase our pool of applicants. This change has been reviewed and approved by the Educational Director of the A.O.A. and the Bureau of Professional Licensing in Harrisburg. The stipulation, "no professional degree or credits toward the completion of a professional degree other than Doctor of Osteopathy at an accredited college of osteopathy may be used in the fulfillment of our minimum requirements," has been stricken out of the requirements as listed in the Catalogue.

The Faculty Committee on Admissions is attaching increased importance to the English used on our application forms (grammar, composition and neatness), because of complaints of poorly written examination papers and inadequate chart work of externs in the hospital.

The Profession of the Future

Our main message to our alumni at this time is with regard to admissions—particularly about the letters you write to us in recommendation of applicants.

When we get a short note of generalized recommendation, we have to interpret it as meaning that somebody asked you to write it, that the applicant is not known to you personally for any great length of time and such a letter, while not a detriment to the candidate, is no strong point in his favor.

We want a letter from you which shows that you are deeply interested in the type of man or woman we train to be osteopathic physicians, that you realize how important it is for the profession's new blood to be pure blood, healthy blood, arterial blood which will carry on the profession's life processes and future progress.

Specify WHY you believe this applicant to be the right person to accept, giving the solid reasons for your recommendation. We get three general types of applications: first, the young man or woman who grew up in an osteopathic family, patients of D.O.'s, maybe relatives; second, the young man or woman who had no early touch with osteopathy but whose bent has been in the direction of becoming a "doctor" and whose acquaintance with the osteopathic school has come while a student at college or through association with persons preparing for osteopathic study; third, the young man whose motivation in seeking admission is based almost entirely on the desire to continue as a student somewhere, medical, if he can get in, if not, he'll settle for osteopathy, just to go to school somewhere and get some kind of a doctor's degree.

Interviews Are Indispensable

Our Faculty Admissions Committee in its interviews is skilled in analyzing the motivations of applicants, and keenly conscious of the responsibility involved. Time and again we get a folder on an individual with good grades, pretty good letters from D.O.'s, often extra pressure by telephone or personal solicitation—a picture that shapes up very strongly WITHOUT the interview. If we were not using the interview system, this man would walk in without a hitch.
In the interview we meet the man himself (or woman), and it is very disheartening to discover that it's just another case of Class 3, he wants IN, but not for the reasons that bring to us the individuals in Class 1 and Class 2. When the main motivation is Class 3, he is not going to make our profession healthier.

So please give us the real facts in those letters, fellow-alumni, if you want the kind of D.O.'s marching off of our Commencement platform who are going to build the profession in the direction of progress.

And, finally, remember the missionary spirit of the early days of osteopathy, when every Osteopath kept always on the alert for the right man or woman, kept selling the idea that in the osteopathic profession there is the approach to disease which surpasses old Doc Pillson Powders down the street, when no real Osteopath would even consider recommending a man or woman as a prospective D.O. unless he wanted him practicing right next door!

Send us those Class 2 people particularly, the intelligent young people who may have just discovered osteopathy last year or even a few months ago, and who will take up the study and the work that will make them the kind of doctor their intelligence and ambition deserves.
Bates, '35, Now Speaker of Maine Legislature

Quarter of a century ago, PCO had an alumnus seated in the House of Representatives in Washington, Dr. Ira W. Drew, '11. Second only to Uncle Ira now for altitude of position in public life is a man from Maine, Dr. Roswell P. Bates, '35, who on January 7 became Speaker of the State House of Representatives.

That's only two steps short of the Governorship. He ranks third in line of the Legislature, and, as assistant majority floor-leader, was pretty close to the throttle even before they gave him the gavel and told him to try to get order.

The leading newspaper of Portland crowned him "Maine's Man of 1953" on the occasion of his election to the Speakership. In the Maine Osteopathic Association he has been holding that spot for a good many years, President in 1944 and 1945, Secretary ever since.

Dr. Bates made headlines in the Legislature right away with the announced policy of junking seniority as the last word in Maine operations. He dropped a blockbuster in the political thinking by announcing that he will name his House committee chairmen on the basis of ability instead of mere long-term occupancy.

Dr. Bates was a busy man even in his college days. Born in Danvers, Mass., February 27, 1911, he came to PCO from Bowdoin, was editor of the class yearbook at PCO, and after graduation in 1935, he interned at Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital. He began practice October 1, 1936, at Orono, Me., his headquarters ever since.

In 1939 he was a leading figure in the founding of Bangor Osteopathic Hospital and has been a member of the Board from then to now, serving a term as President and a term as Chairman of the Staff. At the national level in Osteopathy, he has represented Maine in the House of Delegates and served with the AOA Department of Public Relations.

Dr. Bates married soon after settling in Orono. He has two sons, Howard Anthony, aged 9, and Bruce Preston, aged 4, with a fine inspiration to guide them both in the profession and in service to the community.

Speaker Bates

He'll Remember Maine

Dr. Victor R. Fisher, '37, PCO Director of Graduate Education, addressed the Maine Osteopathic Association on the subject of "Rheumatic Fever," starting at 2:30 P.M., last December 5, BUT—

At ONE P.M. he was in Boston, about to send a telegram of regret. At 7 A.M. he appeared at La Guardia in New York ready to make Portland in one hop, but the flight was cancelled. He took off at 9, heading for Boston, sat in the plane for an hour at Hartford, finally reached Boston Airport at 1 P.M. That's all. Nothing leaving for Portland any time soon.

"There's a private plane over there might take you."

"I'll take it."

"Cost you $35."

"I'll take it."

"Just one more thing. It's a two-passenger job and there are already two passengers aboard."

"I'll take it."

"But there's another thing. The second passenger, the one who is not driving, well, he's dead!"

"I'll take—(galumph)."

Dr. Fisher was about halfway through his paper in the Portland hotel ballroom when it hit him—the realization that he'd made the last leg of his trip like probably no other speaker ever did before, all cuddled up with a corpse!

He had to sit down and take a drink of water. Then the show had to go on—rheumatic fever, and how to get away with it.

Graduate Courses

One hundred and six osteopathic physicians have attended the graduate courses offered by the College so far this year.

The "Day-a-Week" courses have been very popular and doctors from cities in West Virginia, Virginia, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania have traveled to the College one day each week to participate in courses in Cardiology, Gynecology, Hematology and Diseases of the Kidney, Hypertension and Endocrine Glands. The following "Day-a-Week" courses are being offered for the Spring:

1. Diseases of the Gastro-intestinal Tract on Tuesdays, from April 7 to May 26, inclusive.
2. Dermatology and Syphilology on Tuesdays, from April 7 to May 26, inclusive.
3. Pediatrics on Thursdays, from April 9 to May 29, inclusive.

Full time courses in Cardiology, Osteopathic Cranial Therapy and Proctology have been attended by physicians from more distant cities in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, West Virginia, Virginia, Washington, Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Arizona, Michigan, Delaware, Rhode Island and Canada.

The following full time courses are offered for the Spring:

1. Obstetrics and Gynecology—March 16 to 20, inclusive.
2. Diseases of the Kidney, Hypertension and Endocrine Glands—May 4 to 8, inclusive.
3. Basic Sciences—Anatomy—Physiology, Bacteriology, Pathology and Pharmacology related to:
   I. General Nervous and Endocrine Systems, May 11 to 15, inclusive.
   III. Cardiovascular System, May 25 to May 29, inclusive.
   IV. Respiratory and Renal Systems, June 1 to June 5, inclusive.

The objective of the College is to provide a continuous source of education to the profession and welcomes suggestions for future courses.

Submitted by:
Victor R. Fisher, D.O.
Director of Graduate Education

From England

Dr. Montague Winer, of London and Brighton, visited the College and Hospital during January. Dr. Winer was making his first trip to the States in 15 years, dropping in on his way from New York to and from Miami.
Here's the ball club that carried the Maroon and Gray to victory just 21 springs ago. Front row, l to r: George Gerlach '25, Sandy Sanderson '25, Paul Lloyd, '23, Captain, Pete Integlia, '25, Bill Champion, '24.

Classified

'07—"I see by the Digest that Dr. Ira Frank Yeater is supposed to be the only surviving member of the Class of 1907. I wish to inform you that I belong to the Class of 1907 and that I am very much alive, even after being in continuous practice for 45 years. I am wondering, however, if Frank Yeater is possibly the oldest living Osteopath. I know he was the oldest member of our class... Sincerely yours, Dr. Anna M. Ketcham, 1775 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D. C."

'24—Dr. J. Ernest Leuzinger, PCO Professor of Otorhinolaryngology and Bronchoesophagology, is Chairman of the Program for the October meeting of the Osteopathic College of Ophthalmology and Otorhinolaryngology in Los Angeles. Co-Chairmen are Dr. H. Mahlon Gehman, '27, PCO Professor of Ophthal- mology, and Dr. Harry I. Stein, '37, PCO Assistant Professor of Otorhinolaryngology and Neurology.

'26—Dr. Earle H. Gedney, formerly of Bangor, Maine, has been appointed to the surgical staff of Riverview Osteopathic Hospital, Norristown, Pa., specializing in diagnosis and treatment of low back ailments. Dr. Gedney organized the Bangor Osteopathic Hospital and served as Chief Surgeon for 13 years. He is living at Center Square, Pa.

'28—Dr. Beryl E. Arbuckle, PCO Associate in Osteopathic Principles and Techniques, addressed the January meeting of the Montgomery County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children at Norristown.

'29—Dr. John E. Devine, Ocean City, N.J., Teaching Supervisor in the PCO Department of Clinics and President-Elect of the Alumni Association, attended the Annual Congress on Medical Education and Licensure in Chicago.

'31—Dr. Angus G. Cathie, PCO Professor of Anatomy, will uninhibit the Halladay Spine at the Graduate Instruction Course given by the Academy of Applied Osteopathy at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30 to April 4.

'38—Dr. Richard Sayre Koch, Olympia, Wash., Vice-President of the Washington Osteopathic Association, Inc., urges class reunions at convention time, starting with a 15-year gathering of his own class at Chicago this July, in addition to the regular quinquennial booked for Philadelphia on Alumni Day June 13.
'38—Dr. William H. Behringer, Jr., Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association Vice-President and Chairman of the Committee on Public Health Education, represented the POA at the two-day session of the Joint Committee on Education for Pennsylvania, held in Philadelphia in January.

'44—Dr. Alexander Siekerka, Philadelphia, who gave up a career of concert violinist to study osteopathy, will resume his musical bent with a recital at Witherspoon Hall in April. Dr. Siekerka conducted a band at the age of 16 and concertized in Europe, playing under famous conductors there, joined the Philadelphia Orchestra in 1924. His son was graduated with the class of 1946 and his daughter, Mrs. Estelle Siekerka Loeb, is a member of PCO's senior class.

'44—Dr. E. Ivan Cherashore, formerly of Clifton, N. J., has opened a Philadelphia office at 2034 Delancey Place for the practice of plastic and reconstructive surgery.

'44—Dr. Walter L. Willis, Conshohocken, Pa., was elected President of the Conshohocken Board of Health at the annual reorganization meeting, succeeding George T. Lukens, M.D., who served as President for the past 27 years. Other members of the Board are John D. Perkins, M.D., Fred R. Lobb, Elford Fleck and Charles K. White, Borough Health Officer.

'52—Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Staples, Jr., of Camden, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Lucille, to Dr. Robert Wise Warren, Jr., of West Collingswood, N. J. The bride-elect is a graduate of the West Jersey Hospital School of Nursing. Dr. Warren, an alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, is serving his internship at the West Side Osteopathic Hospital, York, Pa.

'53—The engagement of Miss Charlotte Williams, formerly of Lansburg, N. Y., and for five years Assistant Director in the Troy (N.Y.) Department of Recreation, is announced by her parents to Murray Geller, of this year's PCO graduating class. Miss Williams also was employed by the New York State Police after attending Mildred Elley School in Albany.

'53—Irving Tenenbaum, of Cape May, N. J., married Miss Nancy Snowwhite, of Philadelphia, at the Wymefield Jewish Center, January 11. The bridegroom was graduated from Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, majoring in Chemistry before entering PCO.

'55—Mrs. Sadie Aronsohn, Philadelphia, announces the engagement of her daughter, Rita, to Louis Michael Lazarou, Bronx, N. Y., graduate of New York University and member of the PCO Sophomore class. Miss Aronsohn was graduated by Gratz College, studied at L'Universite D'Aix, Marseilles, and is at present enrolled at the University of Pennsylvania.

'55—Charles L. Cary, Malvern, Pa., married Miss Lydia Williamson Famous, West Chester.

Alumni Association

President: Dr. Roy E. Hughes, '28, Indiana, Pa.
Immediate Past President: Dr. Reed Speer, '57, Pittsburgh.
President-Elect: Dr. John E. Devine, '28, Ocean City, N. J.
Executive Vice-Presidents: Dr. Galen S. Young, '35, Chester, Pa., and Dr. Frederick S. Lenz, '35, Cranston, R. I.
Secretary: Dr. H. Willard Sterrett, Jr., '44, Philadelphia.
Treasurer: Dr. Arnold Melnick, '46, Philadelphia.

Board of Directors
North Philadelphia: Dr. Harry E. Binder, '36.
Eastern Pennsylvania: Dr. Galen S. Young, '35, Chester.
Western Pennsylvania: Dr. Roy E. Hughes, '28, Indiana.
Northern New Jersey: Dr. James E. Chastney, '24, Hackensack, Northern New Jersey: Dr. J. B. Bailey Flack, '31, Haddon Heights.
New York State: Dr. William L. Hitchcock, '34, Rye.
New England: Dr. Frederick S. Lenz, '35, Cranston, R. I.
Southern Society: Dr. Henry S. Liebert, '27, Richmond, Va.
Middle and Far West: Dr. Charles J. Karibo, '30, Detroit, Mich.
Foreign Countries: Dr. Carl Cook, '27, London.

Directors-at-Large
Dr. James M. Eaton, '28, Philadelphia.
Dr. H. Walter Evans, '17, Philadelphia.
Dr. Paul H. Hatch, '26, Washington, D. C.
Dr. Guy W. Merryman, '30, Collingswood, N. J.
Dr. George W. Northrup, '39, Morrisstown, N. J.
Dr. Joseph C. Snyder, '36, Washington, D. C.

Help
We need help in exchanging personal obituaries, birthdays, weddings, etc., among our alumni. We need the help from you in your locality. Please, any time there is something like this or some distinction gained by a member of our profession in your area, do us and your classmates and friends all over our circulation area the very big favor of sitting down and scribbling on a piece of paper the name, date, place and the pertinent facts which will make it a readable item which you would be interested in if you lived a thousand miles away and wanted to keep in touch.

Thanks in advance.

Our Growing Legion
Alumni Association membership is close to the 500 mark, according to the records in the Alumni Office at North Center.

How about it, ladies and gentlemen? Just a few more dotted lines and the check in the mail to Dr. H. Willard Sterrett, Jr., '44, 112 West Walnut Lane, Philadelphia 44, Pa. Will is the only member of the '44 class with his address in the 44 mailing zone. He arranged it that way, just to make it easier to join the dues-paying A.A.

Dr. "J.C." Stays in Washington
Commander Joseph J. Snyder, '36, submitted his resignation from the PCO Faculty upon his separation from the Navy January 19. Joe, the son of our patriarch, Dr. "O. J.," decided not to return to active practice at this time and has moved to a position of importance with the Central Intelligence Agency in Washington, where he was stationed while on Navy duty and on leave from our Faculty.

Queen Isabella
TV fame reflected from the distaff side of the family came to Dr. Dewaine L. Gedney, '38, PCO Associate Professor of Surgery, in the form of a prepaid week-end theatre and nightclub trip to New York City, just to be escort for Mrs. Gedney, who triumphed over a brilliant field to win "The Cinderella Week-end" prize on Philadelphia's WCAU-TV.

Mrs. Gedney reached the final round February 20 and scored a knockout win over the other finalists to gain the title.
Barrett

Dr. John H. Barrett, graduated last June from PCO, died February 2 at North Center Hospital of malignant hypertension, at the age of 32. He is survived by his widow, Kathryn, his father, one brother and one sister.

Born in Philadelphia, resident of Roxborough, Dr. Barrett achieved his professional education as a triumph over severe handicaps. His demise is a profound loss to the profession as a whole, as well as his immediate associates and classmates. Dr. C. E. Bohanon, his classroom and laboratory partner through four years at PCO, was at bedside in his last illness, the culmination of a series of hospitalizations starting in his Junior year. Dr. Bohanon, a service veteran of a lot of serious actions, confesses that Dr. Barrett’s last years and death affected him more deeply than anything else he has ever been through, including Guadalcanal.

Dr. Barrett did not accept an internship after graduation, planning to associate for general practice with his brother-in-law, Dr. Tolbert B. Struse, '32, Phoenixville, Pa.

Lidy

Dr. I. Henry Lidy, '06, prominent as a physician in Pottsville, Pa., and an accomplished violinist, died February 5 at Stamford, Conn., where he had been living for the past three years, residing with his daughters after the death of his wife.

Native of Waynesboro, Pa., he practiced in Pottsville for 44 years, where he was a Mason and Rotarian. He was a violin graduate of the Chicago Conservatory of Music and a member of Dr. Robert Braun’s Symphony of Seventy.

Surviving are two daughters, Anne Elizabeth and Margaret, Stamford, and one sister, Mrs. Rose Tim, Hagerstown, Md. He is buried in Waynesboro.

Cohalan

Active in the profession in Philadelphia for more than 40 years, Dr. John A. Cohalan, '06, died in October at the age of 85. Dr. Cohalan was a member of the PCO Faculty before his retirement in 1948. His son-in-law, Dr. Ralph J. Tomei, '39, is an Associate in the PCO Department of Osteopathic Medicine. Also surviving are his three daughters, Mrs. Tomei, Mrs. Paul Brown and Lieut. Louise Cohalan, U.S. Army Nurse Corps, and eight grandchildren.

Hansen

Rasmus Hansen, distinguished member of the Board of Directors of the Osteopathic Hospital and Clinic of New York, passed away suddenly December 29 in San Francisco at the age of 69. Mr. Hansen was the President of the East Asia Co., a Danish trading and shipping business with a New York branch. He had been knighted by the King of Denmark.

Berg—Barrett

Dr. Frank O. Berg, '31, Malden, Mass., and Dr. Robert W. Barrett, '34, Lexington, Mass., good friends of each other and good men with the whole profession in the Greater Boston area, passed away on the same weekend, Frank on Saturday, January 31, and Bob on Sunday.

Bob was hospitalized nearly a year ago. After recovering from surgery, he returned home, where he was confined to bed most of the time.

Frank, much concerned about Bob, as were the rest of the Boston alumni, woke up Friday, January 30, with a severe coughing spell, followed by severe epigastric pain. He was admitted to the Massachusetts Osteopathic Hospital about 11 A.M., and expired Saturday morning. Bob Barrett, after his long illness, passed away Sunday.

Seifert

Dr. Elizabeth Grimes Seifert, '03, one of the first osteopathic physicians ever to practice in Philadelphia, died November 30 in the Hamilton Rest Home, Devon, Pa., aged 89. Dr. Seifert practiced for nearly 40 years before closing her office at 4422 Locust Street and moving to Pasadena, Calif., to live with her sisters, Dr. Idella Grimes and Mrs. Mary Gormley.
'57 Taking Shape

Near the close of the Winter term, enrollment for the entering class of September 1953 stands between 60 and 70, about two-thirds of the Century Limit necessary to fit our present laboratory teaching facilities at 48th Street. April 2 is the new deadline for applications, with the reservation that after that date candidates with exceptional qualifications may be interviewed to fill potential withdrawals which can create vacancies between now and September.

Not the least of the tremendous advantages to be gained by the achievement of the project of a College Building all by itself across Spruce Street will be the smashing of our present Century Limit. Boost in laboratory space as per plan may make it possible to admit as many as 200 freshmen instead of the prescription of 100 now handed every year to the Faculty Admissions Committee.

Candidates already accepted for September include an Army captain now on the teaching staff of the Biological Warfare Training School, a medical technician now finishing his Army stint at a base hospital in Korea, the center-halfback of last year's All-America soccer team now getting his M.A. at New York University, seven other college graduates working for Master's degrees this year—yes, it's quite an array of future D.O.'s, thanks to the loyal field work of our own alumni and the recognition of our College training service by alumni of other institutions in our geographical area.

'56—Jay A. Style, Philadelphia, married Miss Charlotte Zislin, at Temple Beth Zion December 25. Bride and groom are both graduates of Pennsylvania State College.

'56—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Crowther, Newtown, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, to Walter Thomas Robinson, Jr., Roslyn, Pa., Temple University graduate now in the PCO Freshman class. Miss Crowther is a graduate of Newtown High School and is employed at the Insurance Company of North America in Philadelphia.
Come to Colorado

Dear Dr. Brandt:

We feel that Colorado offers much to the osteopathic physician, more than it has been able to guarantee him before. In the past we have had an agreement with the medical profession that we were to have unlimited practice rights. This condition existed for years. At the last legislative session we had a law passed which assures us these rights. We have what is conceded by good authority to be the best law in the United States. It grants reciprocity with other states having equal requirements. One of the requirements is that an internship of one year in a hospital approved by the A.O.A. be completed before a license is issued. However, the board may be written at the time of graduation and the license issued at the completion of the internship.

The licensing board is fair and not unreasonable as some have felt. It is composed of two D.O.'s and five M.D.'s. The record of failures is not higher than any average board.

Colorado also has a basic science law. This is also fair and happens to be headed by Esther Starks—wife of Dr. C. Robert Starks—a wonderful pair. Dr. C. R. is a member of the medical board and a past president of it.

Seven internships are available—two at Lamb and five at Rocky Mountain, both in Denver. Mesa JVIemorial has hospitals located in Laramie and five at Rockymountain, according with the medical profession it.

Dr. C. Robert Starks, ATS ’25, Denver, Colo., receives PCO honorary degree, D.Sc. Ost.

Spots

Kingsport, Tenn.: Dr. James S. Blair, ASO ’01, writes: “Owing to ill health for the past several months, I am compelled to give up my practice. My office and equipment are for sale and are sufficient for a general practitioner. The office is favorably located and the rent is very reasonable. If you know of anyone who would like to start out with a good practice, this is their chance. I shall welcome early inquiries.” . . . 212 Broad Street.

Chickasha, Okla.: Dr. J. Walter Axtell, ’32, Oklahoma Osteopathic Hospital, sends a note that “The Staff of the Oklahoma Hospital (registered) welcomes you as a guest to look over several fine locations easily accessible to this hospital. We believe that any doctor not afraid of work and wanting large obstetrical and general practices will be able to find what he wants here.”

Riverside, R. I.: The widow of Dr. Frederic K. Bowers, ’36, who died last year, would be interested in hearing from an osteopathic physician who might want to take over her late husband’s practice. Dr. Bowers was School Board Physician and Police Doctor in the community, with offices at 316 Willett Avenue, where a letter will reach her. A brother, T. M. Bowers (telephone PEnnypacker 5-3305) may be contacted in Philadelphia.

Toms River, N. J.: Dr. Theodore White van de Sande, ’25, 615 Main Street, is in the market for an associate, year-round, who will later take over entirely. Phone him first (Toms River 8-0980) for appointment to talk things over.
Our Auditorium as a gathering-place for the social side of college life has had a banner season, a "Campus-Warming Party" for the Freshmen in October, the Christmas party, social meetings arranged by fraternity and club groups, as well as the regular assemblies and meetings. Picture shows M.C. Alvin Rosen, '53, introducing Freshman at the October Fiesta.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>University/College</th>
<th>Location</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ANDREWS, JOSEPH C.</td>
<td>Providence College, A.B.</td>
<td>Providence, R.I.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BARONE, FRANK C.</td>
<td>University of Toledo, University of Buffalo, A.B.</td>
<td>Linden, N.J.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BAXTER, DONALD A.</td>
<td>Springfield College</td>
<td>Warren, R.I.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BETTS, WILLIAM E., JR.</td>
<td>Pompton Lakes, N.J., University of Pennsylvania, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BOCHMAN, BRUCE A.</td>
<td>Springfield College</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BRONSTEIN, DAVID</td>
<td>Mansfield State Teachers College</td>
<td>Ashland, Pa.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CAPITAIN, ROBERT W.</td>
<td>East Williston, N.Y., University of Pennsylvania, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>COHEN, EUGENE</td>
<td>Temple University</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>COZMA, JOHN</td>
<td>Detroit, Mich., Wayne University</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DALESSANDRO, JOHN A.</td>
<td>Lackawanna, N.Y., University of Buffalo</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DeGHETTO, JOHN C.</td>
<td>Rochelle Park, N.J., Rutgers University, Upsala College, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DeRUE, ROBERT G.</td>
<td>Newark, N.Y., Albany State University, University of Buffalo, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ENGLAND, ROBERT W.</td>
<td>Oaklyn, N.J., Houghton College, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FALICK, ALAN M.</td>
<td>Philadelphia, Pa. Temple University, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRIEDLIL, FREDERIC J.</td>
<td>Pitman, N.J., University of Pennsylvania, Ursinus College, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRY, ROBINSON GEORGE</td>
<td>Orefield, Pa. University of Pennsylvania, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GEHRIS, LOIS J.</td>
<td>Reading, Pa. Albright College, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLOVER, JULIUS R.</td>
<td>Passaic, N.J., Howard University, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GLOVER, ROBERT H.</td>
<td>Jackson, Miss, University of Mississippi, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GREIF, DONALD D.</td>
<td>Brooklyn, N.Y., Brooklyn College</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GRIFFITH, THOMAS B.</td>
<td>Washington, D.C., Nebraska State University, Omaha University, University of Colorado</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GROSSBART, FREDERICK</td>
<td>Newark, N.J., Seton Hall University, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEAGEN, EUGENE R.</td>
<td>Woodhaven, N.Y.C., New York University</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEMSLEY, WILLIAM R., JR.</td>
<td>Audubon, N.J., Franklin &amp; Marshall College, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HICKERSON, JAMES S.</td>
<td>North Little Rock, Ark., Little Rock Jr. College, University of Arkansas, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HIPPE, JOHN A.</td>
<td>Harrisburg, Pa. Gettysburg College, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>INWALD, SAMPSON A.</td>
<td>Brooklyn, N.Y., Brooklyn College, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JACOBSEN, RODNEY T.</td>
<td>Camden, N.J., Rutgers University (S. Jersey Div.), A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JAEGGER, FREDERICK J.</td>
<td>Buffalo, N.Y., Shurtleff College, University of Buffalo</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOSEPH, JAY H.</td>
<td>Vineland, N.J., University of North Carolina, A.B. Temple University, M.Ed.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KELLAM, DAVID A.</td>
<td>Binghamton, N.Y., Colgate University, Syracuse University</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KETNER, DONALD W.</td>
<td>Clarion, Pa., Clarion State Teachers College, Grove City College</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KODROFF, CARL</td>
<td>Philadelphia, Pa. Temple University, A.B.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LETOURNEAU, BERNARD J.</td>
<td>Brooklyn, N.Y., Long Island University, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LEVITT, JACK</td>
<td>Philadelphia, Pa. University of Kentucky, B.S.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
LIEBERT, HENRY S. ....................................................Richmond, Va.
Hampden Sydney College, B.S.

LODATO, ARTHUR A. ...................................................Bristol, Pa.
Florida Southern College, B.S., A.B.

LOVE, JOHN E. .........................................................Pittsburgh, Pa.
University of Pittsburgh

Villanova College, B.S.

MAKANT, JOSEPH E., JR. ..................................Pawtucket, R.I.
Colby College
University of Rhode Island, A.B.

MARINO, NICK A. ......................................................Cleveland, Ohio
Miami University, A.B.

MARRA, CHARLES N. ...........................................Tuckahoe, N.Y.
Michigan State College, B.S.

MARTSUKIS, LEO M. ............................................New York, N.Y.
Villanova College
New York University, A.B.

MATEZ, MURRAY N. ..............................................Atlantic City, N.J.
University of Georgia, B.S.

MEALS, ROBERT L. .................................................Lebanon, Pa.
Huntington College
Lebanon Valley College, B.S.

MELHORN, FREDERICK R. ....................................Johnstown, Pa.
Gettysburg College, A.B.

Temple University
Philadelphia College of Pharmacy & Science, B.Sc.

MILLARD, LESTER C. .............................................Gouverneur, N.Y.
St. Lawrence University, A.B.

Villanova College, B.S.

MINEHAN, EDWARD J. ...........................................Wilmington, Del.
University of Delaware, A.B.

La Salle College, A.B.

La Salle College, A.B.

ORONS, STANLEY ......................................................New York City, N.Y.
New York University
Purdue University, B.S.

PATRIQUIN, DAVID A. ............................................Providence, R.I.
Tufts College, B.S.

PECKINS, HOWARD C. B. ...........................................Utica, N.Y.
Utica College of Syracuse University
Middlebury College, A.B.

University of Pennsylvania, A.B.

POLULICH, JOHN P. ..................................................Grantwood, N.J.
St. Johns College, B.S.

La Salle College
University of Pennsylvania, A.B.

Ursinus College, B.S.

PRYKANOSKI, JOSEPH J. ........................................Trenton, N.J.
Temple University

PYLE, WELLDEN ......................................................South Orange, N.J.
Lafayette College, A.B.

ROBINSON, WALTER T., JR. ..................................Roslyn, Pa.
Temple University, A.B.

RUSIN, WILLIAM D. ..............................................Gloucester City, N.J.
St. Joseph's College, B.S.

SADICK, S. PAUL ......................................................Salisbury, Md.
Washington College, B.S.
Salisbury State Teachers College

SALKIND, HENRY .....................................................Atlantic City, N.J.
Temple University, A.B.

SNOKE, PAUL S. ......................................................Lemoyne, Pa.
Dickinson College, B.S.

SNYDER, RICHARD K. ............................................Allentown, Pa.
Muhlenberg College

Ursinus College, B.S.

SULLIVAN, JAMES J. ..............................................Springfield, Mass.
Mt. St. Mary's College, B.S.

St. Joseph's College, B.S.
University of Pennsylvania

WALP, BARRY D. ......................................................Forty Fort, Pa.
Franklin & Marshall College, B.S.

WIENER, HERBERT ....................................................Brooklyn, N.Y.
Brooklyn College, A.B.

George Washington University
Montgomery Jr. College
University of Maryland, B.S.

WORTH, LEONARD V., JR. ........................................Williamsville, N.Y.
University of Buffalo, A.B.

WYNNE, JOHN B., JR. ............................................Greenwich, R.I.
Merrimack College
Providence College, A.B.

Temple University, A.B.

YOUNG, WARREN C. .............................................Franklin, Ohio
Miami University (Oxford, Ohio)

YURKANIN, JOSEPH ..................................................Ashley, Pa.
University of Scranton, B.S.
Temple University

ZACCARDI, FRANK F. ............................................East Orange, N.J.
Upsala College, A.B.
Rutgers University

La Salle College, A.B.

ZELLIS, ABRAHAM ..............................................Philadelphia, Pa.
Rittenhouse College
Temple University, A.B.
Don't Miss ALUMNI DAY!
SATURDAY
JUNE 13

Graduate Seminars in College Auditorium
Morning and Afternoon
Dr. William F. Daiber, '28, Program Director

Alumni Banquet
Hotel Warwick . . . 7 P. M.
Dr. Nicholas D. Tretta, '42, Banquet Chairman

Commencement
Sunday, June 14 . . . William B. Irvine Auditorium
34th & Spruce 3 P. M.

See you there . . .
and there . . .
and THERE!

Dr. Harry E. Binder, '36,
General Alumni Program
Chairman

Alumni President, Dr. Roy E. Hughes, '28, and Mrs. Hughes at 1952 Alumni Banquet.